

On 28 January 2013 the European Defence Agency (EDA) and the European Commission will jointly organise a workshop on Regional Smart Specialisation for the EU Defence Sector.

The purpose of the workshop, which will be held at EDA's premises, is to introduce the concept of smart specialisation and regional policy funding to European companies and research centres working in the field of defence. At the same time the event will focus the attention of regional decision makers on the potential contribution of this sector to regional economic development.
